

THE ATLANTIC HORSESHOE CRAB

Although this animal crawls ashore at night to mate, they must not stay long. They scurry back into the water to avoid the human's grasp; they are being hunted for their precious blue blood, costing $60,000 per gallon.

